

Druglink home

Welcome to the Druglink home page

Druglink is a bi-monthly magazine for all those UK professionals interested in drugs and drug-related issues whether it's treatment, public health, education and prevention, criminal justice or international. Druglink includes the latest news, feature articles, interviews, factsheets, reviews and listings.

Druglink has its own blog, the aims of which are to raise awareness, challenge misconceptions and, most importantly, give you the chance to express your views! Find the Druglink blog here.

To subscribe to Druglink please visit our Shop. If you'd like to be invoiced for your subscription download this form (PDF 125KB)

Latest issue: March/April 2010

Contents (PDF 131KB)

Sample articles (PDF 811KB)

The March-April Druglink has a special focus on young people - and how the goal posts are moving. Not only are they taking different drugs in a different way than they were 10 years ago, but treatment services now have to recalibrate themselves to deal with the wider issues which often come attached with young people's drug and alcohol problems. This issue also takes a look at how the internet, specifically drug forums, is taking a greater role in the provision of harm reduction advice; we warm-up for the general election with a piece by Paul Hayes about the political history of treatment and an article on how alcohol is the biggest drug issue for politician's to confront in the run-up to May.

Max Daly, Editor

Free online issue!

This November-December 08 issue is free below. Please click the thumbnail to launch the magazine in a reader (new window). You can browse the pages by clicking the grey arrows at the bottom of the reader. You can also see a table of contents, email pages to your friends and colleagues, search the publication, and more. If you get stuck please click the question mark icon in the top right of the reader.